

Introduction to Skyscape One

In 2001-02 I began noticing unusual manifestations in the sky of such an extreme nature that I thought I was witnessing Armageddon. In October 2008 I began observing the horizon again and it appeared that the Sun and Moon were following me and crafts or satellites were staged above my home. In addition, several months ago it appeared that clouds and other objects were moving along with me when I walked or drove my car. I have been investigating for the past year, and after discovering terminology surrounding the philosophy “The Singularity,” Transhumanism, Mind-Uploading, Virtual Reality and Simulated Reality, I believe that something dire has happened to our planet, and the horizon could be in a Simulated Reality. See this web site for more information: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Simulated_reality

I have taken a number of videos that document this phenomenon beginning with this present video - Skyscapeone - which was shot on approximately October 5, 2009 at dusk. On this date I noticed an extremely large “cloud” formation and filmed it for 10 minutes.

I begin filming at a stop sign; the cloud formation is on my right. If you keep your focus on any one point in the cloud you will notice that as I make right or left turns, this cloud mass turns as well. After I turn a corner and drive forward, at times this mass will be moving forward. This is not normal. If this was a normal horizon I would be driving past the clouds or clearly away from the clouds; instead, as I drive you will notice that the cloud mass itself moves past houses, cars, bicycles, power lines, and other people, along with my vehicle, and appears to be following me. When I stop at a stop sign, the cloud mass stops with me and then moves again as I move. I believe this is strong evidence of a Simulated Reality. The question remains as to why the phenomenon is surrounding me, as you will notice objectively that the cloud mass is not following anyone else who I am filming.

Throughout this video you will notice various sounds. This musical soundtrack is my own composition, entitled “The Whole World is Watching You,” which I believe was fitting for my first video and it was chosen for a reason. There are also voices which can be heard in this music, which was outside of my control, ranging from “thank you,” to blasphemy. At the end of this music I purposely held one note for several seconds so that the strange beeping within it is clearly audible. I do not know the source of this sound but I did hear it along with 4 other signals 8 years ago and I was told that they were alien in nature.

More videos are pending in which I will track the motion of the “Moon,” the “Sun,” and various other objects in the sky.

Other people have also documented strange cloud formations. See: <http://tinyurl.com/ns45bg>
