

The paragraph below under the town of Greenville was extracted from the September 15, 1882 edition of the Macon Telegraph, and was in a routinely running column called "GEORGIA GLEANINGS", appearing as follows.

GEORGIA GLEANINGS

NEWS GATHERED BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENTS

[A want of space compels us to request all correspondents to state facts as tersely as possible, and to avoid political discussions. --- Ed]

Palmetto.

...

Vienna.

...

Lamar's mill.

...

Rives?.

...

LaGrange.

...

Sparta.

...

Greenville.

...

A bevy of young ladies from this county to-wit: Misses Alithia Davidson, Mary Barnes, Lavonia Leverett, Nemie Freemand[sp] and Lorena Hinton, left on last Monday for Mary Sharp College, at Winchester, Tennessee. They were joined in Atlanta by Miss VanHoose, of Senoia, who goes also to said college.

...
