(Family tree data as distributed at the Yearwood/Bishop family reunion June 9, 2002, at the Hydro Senior Citizens Center in Hydro, Oklahoma*)

The information on the early Yearwoods is being researched. As presented in this document, our Yearwood ancestors came from England and settled first in Virginia or North Carolina in the early to mid 1700s. From the latter state, they moved to Tennessee in 1805. From there, the family's movement generally went as follows: Jefferson County, Illinois, in 1826; Cooke County, Texas, in 1861 (Civil War); and Caddo County, Oklahoma, in 1907 (the year Oklahoma became a state).

Based on census and other data, the family name appears to have been Earwood through 1810. The subsequent census indicates that at least William, Frederick's father, was still using Earwood in 1820. From that point to the 1826 move to Illinois, the use of Yearwood became more common. (Frederick died in 1821 and William in 1823.) Research to date has not turned up any public use of Earwood by the family members (Frederick's descendants) after their move to Illinois.

*Data compiled by Carol Dona Anderson (Oklahoma City) and entered by Lonnie T. Yearwood (Edmond, OK), who apologize for any errors or omissions. One additional family member has been added since June 9: Dylan Cole Reed, b. July 6, 2002, to Thomas and Jerica Reed.

Notes for Aaron Yearwood:

Aaron YEARWOOD came in December 1826. He was accompanied by his mother, with her two sons, Joseph and Robert, and by his brother William. With William came his wife's sister Betsy, now Mrs. WATSON. The father of these three ladies, Robert RANKIN, Sr., came a year or so later, and after a short stay, went to Shelby County, but left here his son Robert and Mrs. Robert YEARWOOD. Old Mrs. YEARWOOD'S husband's name was Frederic; she herself died in 1847. The next fall after Aaron's arrival, 1827, James SURSA, who's wife was sister to his wife and to Ward WEBBER, came out with his brother Jack SURSA. These men and one daughter were the children of Richard SURSA, who died in the War of 1812. Benjamin WEBBER came with the YEARWOODS, married a WILKERSON, and settled at the JORDAN or Coley SMITH place on Seven Mile Creek. Ward WEBBER and John came three years later, 1829, the latter settling in the edge of Wayne County, while Ward located where Daniel BARFIELD afterward lived. Daniel was step son to James SURSA. About the same time, 1829, William BYERS came to the place still known as the "Old BYERS place." Mrs. BYERS - "Aunt Nancy" - was sister to old Mr. YEARWOOD. BYERS had a daughter already married to Joseph BROWN. Pete BRUCE, or Armstead W. and Moses BAUGH, took one each, and the last girl (we suppose not finding a B. to suit her) was married to Fountain GARRISON. He and James GARRISON came in 1827, and James died of small pox a few years ago. James married a WIMBERLY; in two or three years after coming out, F. died.

KILLED BY A TRAIN

S. R. Yearwood Meets Death In Evansville Saturday

Victim Was Formerly a Resident of this City and Will be Brought Here for Burial

"Samuel R. Yearwood, aged 87, was killed in Evansville, by a train on the Evansville & Terre Haute railroad. He had stooped down to pick up some object lying on the tracks, and did not realize the closeness of the approaching train in time to get out of the way. The pilot of the engine struck him in the head, rendering him unconscious and he died about an hour later, but did not regain consciousness. He was a crossing flagman in Evansville for the L & N railroad. Mr. Yearwood was born in Tennessee, but made this city his home for many years. Three brothers, Wm. F. and J. M. Yearwood, of this city, and A. L. Yearwood, of Evansville, together with a widow and seven children survive. He was a soldier in the confederate army and served several years for the cause he espoused. During his term of service he made an excellent record as a soldier. Religiously he clung to the Baptist faith. The body will be brought here Tuesday morning, on the L & N train, and taken directly to Sursa cemetery, where a funeral service will be conducted by Rev. W. L. Dorgan. "

Date of birth on tombstone: Jul. 11, 1824.

"On November 24, 1863, the Texas Legislature passed a Joint Resolution stating that the government pledged "support and maintenance of [the soldiers'] families during their absence from home." In accordance with this Resolution, an "Act to Support the Families and Dependents of Texas Soldiers" passed on December 15, 1863. The Act set aside $1,000,000 annually to be paid the "families, widows, and dependents of soldiers currently serving in State or Confederate forces, or of soldiers killed or disabled in service." Chief Justices of the counties, on or before March 1 in 1864 and 1865, submitted lists of servicemen and the number of their dependents eligible for relief. Notes for Aaron L. Yearwood:

March 27 or 28, 1919, Mt. Vernon Daily Register:

"FORMER WELL KNOWN MAN VERY SICK AT HOWELL"

"Relatives here have been informed of the serious illness of Aaron L. Yearwood, formerly of this place, who with his family moved to Howell, Indiana many years ago.

Mr. Yearwood is reported critically ill with Bright's disease.

Mr. Yearwood will be remembered by many of the older families of Mt. Vernon, as he was one of six brothers and one sister who resided here. Samuel, William, Robert and Dave Yearwood and Mrs. Buck Oakley, his sister are dead. Joe Yearwood of Mt. Vernon and Aaron L. Yearwood of Howell are the only survivors.

Joe Yearwood is almost eighty-five years old and is in good health and Aaron L. Yearwood will be eighty-one years old if he lives until next Saturday. He is a veteran of the Civil War. "

(Probably was in the Confederacy with his brothers.)

Birth also reported as Feb. 28, 1855.

Tombstone has Feb. 29, 1852.

Statement by Lonita (Chambers) Capshew (May 27, 2002):

[George] had a second "wife." I'm not too sure the family was convinced it was more than a common law marriage, but they had at least one daughter, named Reba. Mom [Irene] was in touch with Reba's children. I don't recall Reba being from Eakly.

I know Grandpa [Peter] remembered he was swinging on the porch gate when George left in the wagon. He asked his father to go with him to town, but George said, "No, not this time." That was the day he deserted Josie and the kids.

Years later, it was our grandpa who located George, via a personal ad in Woodsmen of the World. Apparently, George had always subscribed, and Grandpa thought there might be a good chance he would see the ad. He did and Grandpa paid for him to come home [to Eakly]. That was, of course, after Josie had died. Mom also said George was a real sourpuss.

"When P. T. "Buster" and Dona Yearwood came to Oklahoma from Montague County, Texas, the year was 1907 and only three of their eight children were born.

"The Yearwoods first settled south of Eakly in the Alfalfa area, where Buster worked for Henry Horn for awhile before they moved north of Eakly to the North Pleasant Valley Community.

"After a brief time on another rented place, Luther Skagg's farm northeast of town, Buster moved his family to a farm in the Caddo Star District, south of Eakly again, the farm where Carlos Squires now lives.

"Homesick for Texas, Buster and his family returned to Clay County for one year, 1919, but the grasshoppers ate them out; so the young couple return to Eakly to stay, bringing seven children this time. Their youngest, Flossie, was born in 1923 on the farm they'd purchased south of town, adjoining what is now the Floyd King place.

"By this time many of both Buster's and Dona's families (Yearwoods and Bishops) had migrated to Oklahoma to live--most of them in the Caddo County area, too. As a matter of fact, all of Buster's brothers and all but one sister lived in the Alfalfa area at one time or another.

"Buster and Dona were always active in church work. He served for some years as Sunday School superintendent of the Alfalfa Church of Christ. Then, he later helped build what is now the Eakly Methodist Church, and he and a number of his family went on to become charter members of the Eakly Assembly of God Church, where most of them who remain in this area are active till this day.

"The Yearwoods lived in the Alfalfa community during the Big War (WWI) and, like most of their neighbors, displayed a Liberty Bell poster in their window showing they'd bought Liberty Bonds to support the war effort.

"As devastating as the war was, the influenza epidemic, which swept the country during that same decade, hit the Alfalfa community hard, too. It was a time that really drew people together and drew out the most selfless, generous natures of the pioneers here.

"Dona Yearwood's children still tell of how she used to visit their afflicted neighbors, such as the Thurman Repps, nearly daily carrying them soup, bathing babies, combing long bed-tangled hair, and just generally giving comfort.

"All of the Yearwood family but Dona and their middle daughter Irene eventually got the flu. Thankfully, all of their family survived.

"After many years farming, Buster finally moved to town in 1930 and set up a salvage business south of Eakly's main street. In those days, such a business was known very unglamorously as a "junkyard."

"Buster did well though, and he and Dona remained in their little green house surrounded by the Ponderosa pines and myriads of flowers he'd planted until their deaths. She passed away in 1954, and he followed in 1957.

"Two of their children, Jess and Charlie, moved to California during the Dust Bowl days and stayed, settling in the Paso Robles area [southwest California]. The rest eventually settled in this general area--Eakly, Colony and Hydro. Six of the children survive; only Flossie and Florence have passed away.

"Though many of the Yearwood progeny have found other homes, numerous of the clan remain within miles of the place Buster and Dona called home."

Bill owned two 160-acre farms on the east edge of Washita County (purchased in the 1940s). He operated one of the farms and Indian-leased land to the southeast. His son, Glenn, operated the other farm. For many years, Thelma maintained a large garden and shared the superb produce with family and friends.

Bill was very active in the Fairview Community Church, teaching Sunday school for many years, and later became a member of the Pleasant Valley Baptist Church. He greatly loved fishing, an activity he would readily do any day of the week except Sunday, the Lord's day. Unfortunately, his mobility was greatly limited after a serious automobile accident in 1979.

From the Hydro Review:

". . .He came to Oklahoma as a small child settling in the Alfalfa community of Caddo County. He attended rural schools near his home and grew to manhood in that area. His first marriage to Melba Lee Baird on September 22, 1927 ended in tragedy when a fire at the home took her life on February 3, 1930. A six-month old son, Marion Dale Yearwood, preceded his mother in death nine days prior to the fire. He married Maxine Cleo Hill on September 22, 1932, establishing a home very near the present home place know as "Ghost Mound Farms," which he purchased in 1939. Cleo Yearwood died in August 1976 after an extended illness and Marion married Pauline Hill on October 31, 1979. Marion never tired for his love of farming and raising cattle, and continued to devote all his energies to these endeavors until failing health about six months ago did not permit him to work any longer. As a long-time member of the Pleasant Valley Baptist Church, he served as a Deacon, Sunday School teacher, and often played the piano. He was very active in civic affairs, having served as Community Committeeman for several years and has been voted the area soil conservationist. He was an avid fisherman, always meeting new friends on his many trips."

Cause of Death: Fire accident in house

Marriage Notes for Marion Yearwood and Melba Baird:

Statement (April 25, 2002) by Carol Dona Anderson regarding the death of Melba Baird:

My father, Marion, and Melba Baird had one son, Marion Dale, born July 29, 1929. He died January 26, 1930, due to a smothering accident. Melba died [the night of] February 3, 1930, when a fire at their home took her life. The following is an account of that tragic event as told by my father and Uncle Beck (Raymond):

Melba and Edith, Uncle Jess's wife, were preparing to cook dinner. Melba splashed kerosene onto the wood from a can that had previously been used to hold gasoline. There was a flash fire, which engulfed Melba. At this time, Edith ran from the house to a neighbor's house. It is thought that she was in shock at the time.

Uncle Beck was about one fourth of a mile from the house when he either saw fire coming from the house, or someone told him there was a fire at the house. I can't remember the exact details of that. Anyway, he ran to the house and went in through the backdoor because the smoke was coming from the kitchen. He said that if he had not gone into the house through the back way he would not have heard a moan coming from the bedroom.

He found Melba in the bed with most of her clothes burned off. The ones that were not burned off were still smoldering. He got her outside and tore the rest of the garments off. At this time she wanted to run to the stock tank, but he would not let her. It was believed in those days that it would drive a burn in to put water on it.

They walked to a neighbor's house, and the doctor was called. Uncle Beck said he still cannot understand how she was able to walk that distance burned as badly as she was.

My father and Uncle Jess were working in the field at the time of the fire. They had started to the house when someone ran to tell them what had happened. Daddy left the team of horses with Uncle Jess and ran to where Melba was. But there was nothing he could do to help her.

Melba died that night. Uncle Beck said he would never forget any of it as long as he lived.

Notes for Maxine Cleo Hill:

She had been in failing health for a number of years and in serious condition for the past few weeks. She passed away at Southwestern Memorial Hospital on Sunday morning at the age of 63 years, 5 months and 19 days. Mrs. Yearwood attended school at Dustin, Oklahoma and grew to womanhood in that area. She moved with her family to Caddo County, Oklahoma in 1930, settling south of Hydro, Oklahoma. . .

Marriage Notes for Marion Yearwood and Norma Hill:

Statement by Carol Dona Anderson (April 25, 2002):

Pauline had a beauty saloon in Eakly, Oklahoma. It was located across the street from Grandma Hill's home. Pauline looked after Grandma until she died, which was just ten months before Mama (Cleo, Pauline's sister) died. Mama and Pauline were always very close to one another and spent a lot of time together.

It was very difficult for Pauline when her sister died. Evelyn and I always made sure that Daddy would bring Pauline with him when he came to Oklahoma City to visit us. Daddy's kids could not have been happier when Daddy and Pauline decided to get married. In fact, I had suggested to Daddy that he and Pauline get married. His remark to me was, "I knew one of you kids would get around to that one of these days."

They were married October 31, 1979, and were together for sixteen years until Marion died December 28, 1995. Pauline moved to Weatherford, Oklahoma, and still lives there.

Notes for Connie Sherry Yearwood:

Named after her mother's sister, Corrine (Cronk) Jorgensen.

Statement by Lonnie Terry Yearwood (June 4, 2002):

Connie was crazy about horses and family. After the 1993 loss of our mother (Nadine), who had provided "summer vacations" for Emily and "little" Connie (my daughters), "big" Connie on her own set aside a week of her vacation each summer to take the girls swimming, horseback riding, playing in the park, etc. They loved it and so did she, especially the trips to show the girls off at the bank where she worked.

After I messed up my hand in an ugly encounter with a lawn mower (don't ask), it was Connie who, without being summoned, showed up to help mow the large lawn until the hand healed, driving some 240 miles each trip.

Connie's boys, Tom and Danny, provided some very unique (for lack of a better word) and enriching experiences in the growing up years. I won't mention the time that Danny, as a baby, rolled off his parents' bed and through the window, falling into a rose bush outside. Connie, in waking up as she heard the crying, became increasingly miffed that some mother in the neighborhood was not taking care of her child. How could any mother she thought just let a child go on and on like that and do nothing. It was about this time that she noticed the missing screen on their bedroom window.

Nor will I mention the time she was frantically driving all over her Mustang (Okla.) neighborhood and beyond trying to find Tom, who, at that time, was probably 3 to 4 years old. The pickup she was driving had a camper shell. And undetected inside the camper shell was a young boy who had gotten tired of playing and had fallen asleep. She discovered him just as she was about to drive the pickup to the police station to report him missing.

Connie was often seen taping her sons' basketball and baseball games, sometimes getting so excited she forgot or abandoned her camera duties. Viewers of the tapes on occasion got to watch segments of the bleachers, close-ups of the floor, or the end of the basketball court with no players on it, typically when the crowd was cheering the loudest.
