

These files are Copyright © 2004 by Walter J. Isaacks and R. J. Drown

This consists of 4 PDF files, readable and printable with Adobe Acrobat Reader, free for the download from www.adobe.com. The files have been locked so they cannot be edited. If there is any interest, new files with the rubrics in red will be provided here.

Print each file separately on letter sized paper, even pages first and then odd pages (or the other way around, depending on how it's easier for you.)

Each section can then be cut down the center, making a convenient sized booklet with pages 8.5 x 5.5. Make sure you assemble the pages properly (each section separately)!

You can then have them punched or drilled to fit in a statement sized binder (available from any office supply store) or have them bound with the plastic comb (an oversized comb will ensure its lying flat) or spiral coil. In the latter case make sure you add a plastic cover or have the enclosed cover file laminated; spiral covers tear paper or card stock. Velo binding is not recommended.

Of course, if you're so inclined, you can always have the book hardbound.

If you find any solace or edification in this effort, glory to God.

If any fault be found, it is ours alone.

In any case, please let us know (for our own information) if you download this. Share any comments with us.

byzantine-american@cox.net